

Fight Like a Girl

Twenty years ago, Lisa Bevere was a relatively unknown minister, preaching mainly to women in churches and other settings. But today, she reaches mixed audiences in both the U.S. and abroad, and has a mandate to equip and empower others.

In this season of her life, Lisa sees her role as a new grandmother as a reflection of her current assignment. In her book Fight Like a Girl, Lisa shatters many of the myths associated with women in ministry. She says you can be feminine, confident and powerful for God. Watch video below.
