

First Lady Spreads Christmas Cheer at Children's Hospital

Melania Trump visited the Children's National Hospital for the third consecutive year this week.

Her Christmas storytime was broadcast to the young patients, and the equipment in the hospital allowed for patients to play a round of Christmas bingo with the first lady from the safety and comfort of their own rooms.

For those whose holidays are spent sequestered in the hospital, the first lady's fun-filled afternoon brought Christmas cheer.

Watch how one sweet patient was able to participate despite social distancing restrictions here.
