

Fix Your Heart on the Reason for the Season

This season, it seems we're all looking for something—extra presents, time with family, a way to feel that extra bit of joy. And yet, there is only one person who can truly satisfy our deepest longings.

The Christmas lights adorning trees and garlands are nothing in comparison to the light of the world who has come for you and me.

In the midst of holiday preparation, take a moment to prepare your heart and recenter it on the true meaning of Christmas. Watch now.