

Francis Chan: This False Belief Is the Root of the Church's Problems

Francis Chan believes the modern church has an outreach problem. We pray and intercede with fervor for miracles and the supernatural—and yet few of us take that same passion into outreach ministry. Worse yet, he says, we rely on our own power to save people, believing we can do anything to persuade someone more or less to Christ. He diagnoses the problem—and offers a persuasive answer—in this sermon.
