

‘Good Good Father’ Writer Shares New ‘Hymn for the Holy Spirit’

Pat Barrett performed his new song, “Hymn of the Holy Spirit,” on Worship Together’s New Song Café video series. Barrett—a worship leader at Grace Midtown in Atlanta—is best known as the lead singer/songwriter for the worship band Housefires and wrote the hit “Good Good Father” (which was later recorded and popularized by Chris Tomlin).

Barrett’s “Hymn of the Holy Spirit” lyrics focus on the importance of listening to and being guided by the Holy Spirit. Will it become as popular as “Good Good Father”? Watch the video and let us know in the comments what you think.
