

How Bethel Is Meeting the Physical, Spiritual Needs of Its Community

As Redding residents stream back into their neighborhoods after evacuation notices lifted, many are left with nothing. The Carr Fire in Shasta County, California, has consumed 112,888 acres and is now 30 percent contained. In addition to the mass intercession Bethel conducted in the last few days, the Spirit-filled congregation is now able to meet the physical needs of its community. Donations must be dropped off through the Salvation Army, but the Bethel building is the charity's distribution center. Watch the video to see everything Bethel is doing.
