

Jennifer LeClaire Prophecies 'Spain an Agent of Transformation in Europe'

ISIS is claiming responsibility for a terror attack that killed 14 and injured 130 in Barcelona. A manhunt is underway to capture the terrorists.

This news struck my heart. I'm praying for Spain.

Nearly a year ago, I was in Spain doing a short ministry tour. I had a strong wave of spiritual emotion rush over me in the last service. The Lord told me He was knitting my heart to the land—and that the land had a destiny in God as one that holds a key to transformation in Europe. The Lord said:

“For I have called this nation as a center for My glory where people can encounter My heart and the passion of My Spirit. The enemy has indeed erected strongholds of wickedness and bands of evil to blind the people from the truth and freedom in My Son, but I am raising up a people in this territory and in this nation that will defy the power of a powerless religion and press into My Kingdom to see souls set free for My glory.

The opposition is real, but I am greater than the opposition. Greater is My Spirit in you than the demons in the world. I will use you mightily, Spain, among the nations as you accept your identity and your destiny and choose to believe that you can overcome the world with the faith I have deposited in your hearts.

Believe Me! I am with you. You cannot lose. You have the victory. You are agents of transformation. I am with you.”

Please, pray for Spain.

- Pray for the hedge of protection to rise up around Spain.
- Pray for an end to terror in Spain.
- Pray against this on Spain's destiny.
- Pray that intercessors on the land will repent for the sins of the land and work as agents of healing.
- Pray that the Lord would empower politicians and police with strategies to eradicate terrorists and thwart future attacks.
- Pray that intercessors in Spain will not grow weary.

Keep on praying.
