

Jentezen Franklin: What the World Understands About Leadership That Christians Always Miss

Jentezen Franklin says the church needs to start evaluating leaders by their results and by their fruit, not just by their desire to lead or good intentions. Franklin points to Moses and Jesus as examples of this principle. Do you agree? Watch the video, then let us know in the comments.