

Jeremy Camp's 'I Will Follow' Makes Quick Ascension

Grammy-nominated Jeremy Camp's latest release, I Will Follow (Capitol CMG), debuted this week at No. 1 on Billboard's Christian chart, No. 17 on Billboard's Top Albums chart as well as in the Top 25 on the Billboard 200 chart. I Will Follow, Camp's eighth studio album, has also produced his 37th No. 1 radio single with the song "He Knows," topping the AC Indicator charts this week.

Camp's street week was filled with radio appearances as well as the continuation of the Winter Jam tour, which included a sold-out hometown show in Nashville. He also is currently on the cover of CCM Magazine and has been touted by the media calling this album an "amazing collection of musical expressions," it "paves out his legacy of creating music that speaks from a place of experience and faith," and his "best work to date."

Camp has established himself with landmark accolades throughout his praised 13-year career. He has sold more than 4 million albums including four Recording Industry Association of America Gold-certified albums, a RIAA Multi-Platinum long-form video and a Gold-certified digital single, "There Will Be a Day." At radio, Camp is recognized as a staple artist with 37 No. 1 radio hits across all formats spending more than 175 weeks at No. 1 at radio in his career.

His awards and nominations comprise of a Grammy®-nominated project, three American Music Award nominations, four ASCAP Songwriter of the Year awards, an ASCAP Song of the Year award, and five GMA Dove Awards including two-time Male Vocalist of the Year and New Artist of the Year awards. Camp was named in Billboard's Christian Artist of the Decade chart (No. 2) as well as five songs listed in the Top 50

Billboard Christian Songs of the Decade.