

Joel Osteen: God Frustrates You In Order to Position You for Blessing

Joel Osteen told a story about a woman who was complaining about various misfortunes in her life. But Osteen offers a possible rebuttal, arguing that sometimes our perceived misfortunes are actually the “hand of God” blessing us and protecting us from much worse problems. Does this divine perspective argument seem likely to you? Let us know what you think in the comments.