

Kenneth Copeland Says This Smith Wigglesworth Prophecy Will Be Fulfilled in 2019

Kenneth Copeland told The Jim Bakker Show that God told him 2019 would be “the year of abundant harvest.” He says he bases this word off of a prophecy by Smith Wigglesworth, which he believes is being fulfilled now.

“It has to do with going back to Smith Wigglesworth,” Copeland says. “He prophesied there is coming a move of God, greater than has ever been seen on this planet. And it’ll be a combination of healing and miracles and the teaching of the Word. Now he prophesied this over Lester Sumrall; he had his hand on Lester’s head in London, before the war, right before the war—and he talked about 1985, that it would begin in 1985. ... We’re in this thing. We’re seeing things that just boggle the mind. And we’re there. ... You don’t see it all when you’re in it, but we know it’s here.”
