

Mario Murillo's Greatest Ministry Announcement Yet

Mario Murillo has given the biggest announcement yet of his ministry career.

In a live update, Mario Murillo discussed the plans God has laid on his heart to go from sharing the gospel with thousands to millions. He believes Christians in America are losing some critical battles right now, and it is because of these battles that we are in a dire position to share the gospel with the masses.

"We've gone a long road down to an American death spiral, and this spiral is so clear," Murillo says. "Things are much worse than you know."

Murillo says the Lord has asked him to completely change the trajectory of his ministry. His former ministry track is no longer applicable; God has something much bigger He is calling Murillo to for the gospel to be proclaimed.

"The Lord said, 'I want you to stop everything.' I've gotten rid of all my long-range plans. I don't have a five-year plan. What I have now is a plan that is absolutely essential. All reasoning has gone out the window in favor of the urgency of the hour we're in," Murillo says.

In order to shift the government, grow the number of workers for the harvest and provide a future for the children of America, Murillo's ministry is working toward gaining the resources necessary to invite more people to hear the message of Jesus.

“Every 18 months we’ve had to buy a new tent that was twice the size of the one before. Now we need a 7,000-seat tent. We need a larger stage. We need lighting I’ve got to buy 4,000 chairs,” Murillo says.

“We are building a studio. A media center. It’s going to be 3,000 square feet and 19-feet-high. It will have state of the art equipment to produce content,” Murillo continued.

Murillo’s expansion plans also include a 20,000 square foot warehouse to house all of the tools and equipment needed to set up the evangelistic crusades.

“It’s designed for a semi to drive into the warehouse in one door and go out the other. We’re going to leave those trucks loaded and ready to go,” Murillo says.

The ministry expansion includes a $400,000 media trailer as well.

Murillo believes these new facilities will help the ministry go to the places few Christians are desiring to go to—the blue states of America.

“He rebuked me and said, ‘Don’t you dare say that a city is closed. It’s not,’” Murillo says. “‘Be ready to go to the places that the church has written off. That includes the blue states’ cities: San Francisco, New York City, Chicago, Seattle, all the cities that everyone says God can’t reach. The Spirit of God spoke to me to go there, and you’re going to see miracles and a turning.”
