

Mike Shreve: 5 Prophetic Words God Spoke to Me Audibly in 2020

Back in March 2020, God spoke two words to me audibly: “Trade wars.” Keep in mind that a “war” is an extreme effort, usually a military campaign, to subjugate an enemy or conquer another nation.

Take note, if the U.S. economy is crushed or crippled, it will be far easier to set the stage for what has been termed “The Great Reset.” It is not just a China versus the U.S. tug-of-war economically; it involves a globalist agenda fighting against the superiority and sovereignty of the United States. Check out the World Economic Forum website where you will find disturbing quotes like: “The U.S. won’t be the world’s leading superpower”—“A handful of nations will dominate”—“Western values will have been tested to the breaking point”—“You will own nothing and be happy.” Sounds more like a “utopian dystopia”—a dream turned nightmare to me.

Disturbing Revelation

Around the middle of April, upon waking, I heard God speak a very disturbing revelation about health care. Because of the increasing control being exerted by the World Health Organization, the National Institute of Health, the pharmaceutical industry and insurance providers, health care is more and more becoming big business, and it is becoming apparent that it will increasingly be used to monitor and control U.S. citizens, as well as the rest of the world. To pave the way, you can also expect bloated COVID-19 numbers to continue being pushed until the fear-mongering drives people to unresistingly submit to a vaccination program that will include a rigidly-enforced, national tracking system.

This plan will rob people of their personal freedom in a major way. I have personal insight into the tendency toward making false medical claims. A relative of mine died earlier in the year from a car wreck. Because of a sliced artery in his neck, he was on a ventilator for two months before he died. However, a reputable hospital labeled his death as resulting from COVID-19. Unbelievable. I have also had many friends report similar happenings.

However, it's all part of a deceptive plan. Though the vaccination itself may not be mandatory, the requirement of having it in order to participate in routine day-to-day activities (going to school, shopping, public events and more) may make normal life almost impossible without submitting. Still, we should purpose to absolutely refuse the vaccines soon to be offered, if for no other reason, because they have been developed through the use of aborted fetal tissue.

Sequencing

The day after I received the previous word, God woke me up in the morning with this single word ringing in my spirit: "sequencing." The process of "sequencing" DNA involves determining the order of the four chemical building blocks in the double helix. They're called "bases" and they comprise the DNA molecule. The sequence reveals the kind of genetic information that is carried in a DNA segment.

For example, scientists can use sequence information to determine which stretches of DNA contain genes and which stretches carry regulatory instructions, turning genes on or off. Experimentation with genetic splicing is very troubling and, in some situations, horrifying. Some current experiments even mix human and animal genes. Also, the genetic modification of our food is widespread. There is a movement now geared toward something called "transhumanism," creating a more perfect or more evolved human being through genetic manipulation.

This is all possible because of a machine called Crispr that allows scientists to cut and paste genetic material. This trend may also involve genetic modification through the introduction of an RNA vaccine that will affect the DNA of those who receive it. Those involved in this practice are removing something from the hands of God that only He should control. In essence, genetic manipulation is a way of telling God He did not do a good enough job, and we need to fix it.

God warned me that this practice is a major crime against Him and against humanity in these last days.

Armed Resistance

On Dec. 9, God spoke to me audibly early in the morning with the sobering words, “armed resistance.” That was all; He didn’t elaborate on the details. It could be applied in so many directions. Only God knows what He meant, but I believe we need to brace ourselves for some very disturbing things about to unfold.

It could mean that vigilante patriot groups will launch some kind of “armed resistance” if Biden is sworn into office. Or the opposite, it could mean that left-leaning mobs, like Antifa and Black Lives Matter, may violently oppose President Trump if he continues to expose the fraudulent voting practices that took place and refuses to concede the election and vacate the oval office. Or it could mean an attack on the United States from the outside. Only God knows, but I believe we need to brace ourselves for some very disturbing violent conflicts that may very well unfold in the near future.

In the Nick of Time

The day after I heard “sequencing” in my spirit, I heard, “in the nick of time.” Surely, this could mean that God will turn things around at the last minute by means of various exposures released concerning the evil intentions of globalist groups or that God will foil this evil agenda with an outbreak of revival and a super-harvest worldwide of people saved (which has also been prophetically foretold in Scripture).

Of course, it could mean Jesus returning right before the darkness completely engulfs humanity. "In the nick of time," He will rescue His anointed ones (His elect) by the resurrection and the catching away. Remember, Jesus did predict that "Unless those [last] days were shortened, no one would be saved. But for the sake of the elect those days will be shortened" (Matt. 24:22). So, child of God, be encouraged, be strong, be confident and be committed. Continue to fight the good fight of faith as we move forward in establishing His kingdom.
