

Musician Husband-Wife Duo Receive Prophetic Word for Election, Barrett, COVID

After receiving a prophetic word in both 2016 and 2019 about the coronavirus, musician Robin Bullock has received an update about the pandemic: "You're going to approach an Elijah moment and a Red Sea moment. ... At this time there's going to be a rapid resurgence of everything all at once: riots, virus, everything. And then it will be swallowed up," he says. "The way it came is the way it will go."

But this dynamic duo isn't just in sync in their musical harmonies. The husband and wife (who share with the first name of Robin) have also been given prophetic warnings about the election, SCOTUS Judge Amy Coney Barrett and the implications of a Biden/Harris win for relationships with Israel.

Watch the full interview with Sid Roth here.