

MyPillow's Mike Lindell Calls Election Fraud 'Biggest Crime Ever Committed'

Many of us recognize Mike Lindell as the founder and CEO of MyPillow, but during the 2020 presidential election, we have also come to know him as a man who is passionate for our country and for the truth. He is working with top government leaders right now to make sure truth prevails and the overwhelming evidence of election fraud rises to the top.

"The truth shall set you free," Lindell says about the concerns over the election. "All the Dominion machines, that's where the biggest fraud was. That's where you had like 1.2 [votes] to Biden for every vote, and like .8 to the president. And this was the biggest crime in history for election fraud. They're suppressing it."

Lindell says Trump's team, including former national security adviser Mike Flynn and attorney Sidney Powell, is working to get senators and congressmen together so they can show them the evidence they've uncovered of the massive election fraud. "There's a lot of stuff that's going to come out the next couple days."

Jan. 6, 2021, is what Lindell calls a "very important date." That's when Congress will meet in joint session to formally count the votes of the Electoral College, a meeting at which Vice President Mike Pence will preside. That's when, Lindell says, "the vice president needs to have strength. We need people in there with strength to save our country, just to say, 'Hey, let's look at this evidence.' That's kind of what it comes down to. All they need to do is look at it, send it back to the states and say, 'Look at your evidence.'"

Lindell adds that the horrendous fraud and the forces behind it have endangered our way of life. "Our democracy, our republic is in turmoil, because they're trying to take everything ... this is a communist attack on our country; it really is," he says.

But he urges Americans not to give up hope. "God's not going to let our country go down. We are one nation under God," he says.

Lindell adds that the votes that poured in for Trump on election night broke the algorithms of the Dominion voting machines. "Close to 80 million votes poured in; they didn't expect that many. ... that's why they all stopped in the middle of the night at the exact same time. And they had to regroup and backfill votes.

"By mathematics, I've looked at it, it's 100% impossible," Lindell says. "So when you look at these deviations, now you have to look at: How did they happen? Who did it? Why did they do it? This is what they're blocking. Once everybody sees this—and it's going to happen—one way or another, everyone's going to see how this attempted murder was committed."

Lindell says there are two things those who share his passion for our nation must do. "The most important thing that they can do, that everybody can do, is pray," he says. "God gave us grace. When we all prayed on Nov. 8, 2016, God gave us grace for our nation, and it turned its back on God. And He forgave us. ... for such a time as this, He put Donald Trump in power." Lindell says we need to pray for the Lord to touch President Trump, guide his path and give him strength.

The second thing we must do, Lindell says, is to contact our congressmen, U.S. senators and the vice president to demand that the election be returned to the states. "You reach out and you say, 'We are not going to accept the biggest crime in history.' If you have contact, right now is your time. Reach out," he says.
