

NBA Player Leads Prayer Circle to Bless Cancer-Stricken Homeless Woman

After a game, Tarik Black—power forward for the Houston Rockets—was heading out to eat with friends when he met a homeless woman. She told him she needed Jesus more than money. After finding out she was recently diagnosed with ovarian cancer, Black led his friends in prayer for her. Black prays, “Heal her right now. In Jesus’ name I command healing. Ovarian cancer, you have no strength nor might over my sister. In Jesus’ name, I command you to leave.”