

Opening the Windows of Heaven

It is astounding to think that man in all his wisdom has never seen, heard or imagined what God has in store for a special kind of people—those who love and wait for Him. But by His Holy Spirit it is revealed to us in a way that gives us hope and motivates us to overcome any obstacles. He has promised throughout His Word that there will come a day when we will see the end of everything for which we've hoped.

READ: Ps. 18:1-19; Is. 64:1-4; Ps. 144:5-8; Matt. 3:13-17; 1 Cor. 2:9-16; Rev. 5:8-14;

HEART ISSUE: God has promised to shower abundant blessings on His people. Ask God to search out any areas of disobedience that will cause you to forfeit a share of God's rich rewards.

PRAY: Father, reveal to us Your glorious presence. Unleash Your power in the earth. Show us those things we can observe only by the Spirit, things which the prophets and saints longed to see.

Thank You for this hour of visitation. Let us not miss what You are doing or what You are after in us. Increase our anointing to pray diligently, to worship passionately and to serve faithfully. We will trust You to pour out from Your storehouse immeasurable blessings as we wait upon You. Amen.

Read a companion article.