

Pastor Darrell Scott Says Donald Trump Could Become a 'Great President'

Pastor Darrell Scott knows Donald Trump up close and personal. On the eve of the election, he believes that the businessman-turned-presidential candidate will either win by a "nail biter" or by a "landslide." He believes that Donald Trump will not be just a good president, but a great president.

You have probably seen Pastor Scott either at the Republican National Convention, or appearing on national television. He is a very articulate spokesman for Christian values. I have come to admire him as a clear thinker, and the Lord is opening up incredible doors for him.

He agreed to speak with me on the Charisma Podcast Network and told me that, behind the scenes, Donald Trump is very different from the public persona you often seen portrayed in the media. I found this to be true when I interviewed Donald Trump, although I do not know him well like Pastor Scott does.

I recorded a second podcast with Pastor Scott in which he gives insight into the turn of events since the Oct. 29 revelation by the FBI Director James Comey that he was reopening the probe into the email scandal for Hillary Clinton. In addition, WikiLeaks has released thousands of emails, many of which show that, behind the scenes, Hillary Clinton and the Democratic Party are as corrupt as Donald Trump has said they are.

I invite you to listen to both of these podcasts. I found Pastor Scott to be one of the interesting people I have ever interviewed and I think that you will too.

You know I've endorsed Donald Trump for president. I plan to go to New York on Tuesday to attend his “victory party” and I’ll look forward to reporting on what happened on election night.

Please make sure to vote and to encourage your family and friends to do the same. And by all means, pray God’s will be done on what many are calling the most important election of our lifetime. {eoa}
