

Pastor's Confession Sparks Mini-Revival in California

Pastor Shane Idleman recently made a confession at his church that he says triggered a move of God. Idleman told Charisma that, following the events of this video, Westside Christian Fellowship in Leona Valley, California, experienced “full prayer meetings, requests for early and late prayer gatherings, [and] complete brokenness among members. I had to confess that I was finally ready for revival.”

Around 40 minutes in, Idleman shares a potentially “humiliating” revelation—something he told Charisma is “what I believe God spoke to me years ago that is finally coming to fruition.” Watch it here.
