

Pentecostal Theologian: The Greatest Temptation Christians Face in 2018

James K. A. Smith believes that evangelicals are being lured away from their Christian values by the prospect of power. He describes two dangerous trends taking place in evangelical circles, including a phenomenon he dubs “court evangelicals,” and why Christians need to be on their guard.