

Podcaster Appears to Manifest Demon During Theology Debate

A bizarre and unsettling moment unfolded on the Danny Jones podcast when Dr. Aman Hillman, a controversial former Baptist Sunday school teacher turned apostate professor, appeared to manifest signs of demonic torment during a live interview.

The viral moment was later analyzed by Christian YouTuber Ruslan KD in a reaction video that has since gained wide attention.

The catalyst for the outburst came as Huff began refuting Hillman's extreme reinterpretations of the Bible and Greek terminology. Hillman, known for promoting theories that Jesus led a ritual drug cult and died from venom rather than crucifixion, was visibly agitated and physically uncomfortable when Huff challenged the integrity of his views.

"You look like you're going through an exorcism right now. The power of Christ compels you," Danny Jones said during the episode as Hillman rubbed his eyes, fidgeted in his seat and cried out, "Stop. Stop. I can't take it. I can't take it. I can't take an exorcism right now."

Ruslan, a Christian content creator, later responded to the moment in a detailed video breakdown, highlighting Hillman's irrational behavior during Huff's calm rebuttal. "It would appear so that Wes Huff is pulling the devil out of this guy," Ruslan remarked, pointing out the striking physical response to the mention of Christ and sound theology.

The Bible warns believers about spiritual deception and tells us the authority of Jesus' name has over demonic forces.

In Luke 8, Jesus confronts a man possessed by a legion of demons who falls at His feet and cries out, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God?" The man was later delivered, healed and found to be in his right mind.

Ephesians 6:12 reminds Christians, "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against... spiritual wickedness in high places."

The incident serves as a necessary reminder that the name of Jesus carries authority and that spiritual battles are very real.

As the apostle Paul declared in Philippians 2:10, "At the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth." And what occurred on this podcast may well have been an example of that truth in real time.
