

Prophecy: A Spiritual Shift Is Happening as Strongholds of Fear Crumble

What has happened in the natural world and spiritual realm as a result of the prophecies about the coronavirus breaking up around Passover?

If you follow prophecy, you are probably aware many of the prophets were speaking that the coronavirus was going to die down after Passover. In the natural, I believe we have witnessed some of this already. I'd like it to instantly vanish overnight so that Jesus' name could be glorified that something supernatural happened.

However, most likely, instead of accrediting the shift to the intercessors, the general public and government will emphasize social distancing and shutdowns helped our situation.

But what has happened in the spiritual realm? I have been pressing in to the Lord and asking Him for revelation to know, release and be prepared for what is next.

As a prophetic spiritual warfare minister, I was seeing principalities above the earth in the last few weeks. Fear was the main power I saw in operation. The Lord told me to help people get free from fear and Charisma partnered with me to publish a free e-course on "How to Conquer Fear." You can register and receive it at http://www.charisma.com/free/courses/conquer-fear. The Lord was speaking to me to help remove the spirit of fear.

I feel a spiritual shift. When I look above the earth, I am no longer seeing the stronghold of fear, but I see white in the atmosphere, representing a clear or cleanness in the spiritual realm.

I am not saying there aren't demonic operations above our earth at all. I'm sure we all know there are. However, I am prophetically seeing the dark cloud that has hovered over us disbursed. I am feeling a sense of peace, and I hear the words from the Father of divine intervention and spiritual shift. There has been a spiritual shift in the atmosphere and I do believe the prayers of the intercessors, prayer warriors and people of God have called forth divine intervention.

I am still proceeding with caution. I don't believe we all need to be rushing out in the streets and pursuing normal activities. Being in our prayer closets, we can get instructions from the Holy Spirit and wisdom on how to proceed next and what to do and not do.

However, this spiritual shift reminds me of what I felt like the morning I woke up after Donald Trump had been elected president. I knew Donald Trump would be elected. The Lord showed me four times him standing being inaugurated. Even though I knew there was a spiritual shift that morning, I woke up to the promise of new leadership. It was as if we were entering into a new world and era. I feel a similar way today.

A few weeks ago, God was showing me a curtain, similar to a veil. I felt the curtain just opened and we were walking into a new world. The new world does not promise that we won't face trials and tribulations. I know I see we are at the beginning of that. I know the new world we are going to see is the end times approaching and the media mountain being taken for the Lord. But the Lord is also showing me we need to be faith, love, joy, hope and peace to the world. We are to take this challenge that has recently faced us and use it to exude faith, love, joy, hope and peace.

There is a spiritual shift. We have been given a temporary reprieve on the warfare, but the warfare won't altogether stop. We are in the end times. We are living out the very prophecy of the Bible.

God told me this a few weeks ago that now could be our greatest hour. I believe it. We need to take these new marching orders from the Lord and release faith, love, joy, hope and peace.

Every time I look up into the spiritual atmosphere, it is clear, white and clean. The forces of fear hovering over the coronavirus have departed.

But we still need to conquer our fear for other challenges that await and for circumstances that have affected our lives already. I lived in fear for 45 years. God delivered me.

When this trial came, I was never in fear. Let me assist you, so you may receive freedom from fear, in my new e-course: "How to Conquer Fear." It is free to you! {eo}
