

Prophecy: 'I Am Calling You to Build New Foundations'

I woke up on Thanksgiving morning with my spirit stirred to turn to the book of Revelation. When I read the words of John spoken through Revelation 1:3, "Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of this prophecy and keep those things which are written in it, for the time is near," this utterance came forth:

I heard the Spirit of God say, "I am calling you back to the roots of who you are. I am calling you to build new foundations on what I created you for since the beginning of time. Be not weary, beloved, in well-doing. The time has come for all people to lift up their head and to raise their voices as a shout of praise across this land. A new era is upon us. Yes! A new era and a new time, where the crosshairs holding this nation captive will fix their eyes on Me and depart from wicked- and evil-doings. The crosshairs, I say, are those aiming their target to destroy what I set in place through My hand and by My power.

"But I say to you, take heart, beloved! For the web of lies bewitching this nation are succumbing to the power of My cross and the spirit of persuasion is falling. A sound is arising. A sound is erupting. But is it a sound you long to hear? I say to you, 'The earth is trembling and shaking.' But the sound you hear is the rumbling of My voice awakening the earth and yes, even the governmental systems of this land. There's a bait and switch unfolding as we speak. There's a trade-off in the realm of the spirit where light is overcoming the powers of darkness for the greatest show on earth to appear.

"Let not your heart be downcast, beloved. A new day is dawning with the sky beholding signs of My magnificent coming. Watch now. For have I not said the wind of My Spirit would blow again and restore the ancient landmarks of this nation? Have I not promised a new wind, a new shaking to awaken the sleeping from their slumber? Have I not shown you that I am the God who leads you out of the wilderness and into the land of promise?

“Lift up your eyes, I say, and look to the West. For from the East to the West I am opening the eyes of the double-minded to cause a swing vote to erupt in My favor. This swing vote will cause the pendulum of injustice to hear the sound of My gavel reverberate across the land. A new day is dawning, beloved. An hour of reprieve is upon you, America. The little foxes spoiling the whole vine are being washed away as the cleansing of My house appears; a cleansing far and wide; a cleansing present and near.

“Get up now from your weary place and shake the dust from your feet, America. For you are My land. You are My land from the state of California to the New York islands. You are My land from the Redwood forests to the Gulf Stream waters. You, America, belong to Me. You are a jewel in the crown of your forthcoming King.

“Listen up, now. A shout will be heard in the streets—a shout of celebration with a yeah in the spirit announcing the days of revival. Pay no attention to the naysayers. For I am reviving the dry bones of the land with a fresh wind of My resurrection power. I am re-instating the army of the Lord for carrying a distinct sound specific to this generation. I am awakening the nation through a rattle and yes through the noise. I AM marking the landmarks of cities with the earmarks of a modern-day revival. I am setting new boundaries in place to usher in new alignments at this hour. Where you see an old wineskin losing its steam and shedding its old familiar ways, I am breathing new life with a fresh impartation of My power from a new outpouring of My Spirit.

“Give thanks, America! Give thanks, for the days are coming. I am sweeping the earth with My glory—and with the sound of a spiritual uprising!”

“Will You not revive us again, that Your people may rejoice in You? Show us Your mercy, O Lord, and grant us Your deliverance” (Ps. 85:6-7). {eoa}
