

Prophetic Dream for God's Humble Ones: 'Prepare for Enlarged Territory'

Before retiring to bed a few nights ago, I asked the Lord to allow me to dream with Him that night. It's not often that I make this request, as God frequently uses this medium of communication to speak to me.

Once I fell asleep, I began to see a lofty structure that was failing and crumbling to pieces. I could sense droves of people trying to get away before any of the rubble from the structure fell on them. I even found myself running and dodging debris.

When the dust settled, I found myself at a stadium where a respected Christian and businessman was holding a meeting. At this meeting, he announced that he would soon occupy the space of the structure that had recently been destroyed and the crowd began to cheer. Moreover, the Lord had me to declare to this man that this was his season for enlarged territory.

Proverbs 11:10 says that when the righteous prosper and the wicked perish, the whole city celebrates. I believe we are embarking upon a great season of celebration where God is going to cause many of his children to rise to places of prominence. He will raise up those who He can trust to do right by what He places in their possession for the kingdom work that must be accomplished in both sacred and secular spaces. God is going to humble those who have misused and abused what has been entrusted to them and hand it over to those that are truly passionate about His purposes in the earth—those who will lift Jesus up and not themselves.

To all of God's humble ones, prepare for the unexpected. It's mountain season! Prepare for enlarged territory: new God ordained assignments and opportunities.

“He has pulled down the mighty from their thrones and exalted those of low degree” (Luke 1:52).
