

Prophetic Word: 'We're Looking at a Better Day for the Saints of God'

The Lord is using prophetess Runette Jones to cast vision for the upcoming season of not only the church, but the nation and world. Listen to her incredible word from the Lord on this episode of Global Prophetic Forecast with Joshua Giles on the Charisma Podcast Network.

Host Joshua Giles refers to his mentor and family friend in the utmost of respect. He says she is "a much sought-after prophetic voice." Not only that, but he also says, "I'm telling you, when she prophesies it, you see it on the news within the next days and years to come. The Lord always manifests His word through this woman of God."

Giving just a glimpse into what the Lord has revealed to her, Jones says, "the Lord is saying that we have to get in a place of prayer. And the Lord says that He's going to move in this time. Those who have the gift of healing and miracles and signs and wonders; He's going to begin to use them like never before.

"We're looking at a better day for the saints of God. But before that better day gets here, things are going to get worse."

Jones says she hears the words of the Lord saying, 'Come and see.' She says, "He wants to show His people some things that even I might not even see today. But He said to the church, come and see and I will show you great things that will happen."

To tap into the prophetic word that God has laid on Jones' heart, listen to the full podcast here. {eo}