

Revelation Song: Stirs the Heart in Any Language

No matter what language in which it is presented, the worship song “Revelation Song” can stir emotions and bring goosebumps—not to mention incredible joy and peace—to believers throughout the world.

Written by Jennie Lee Riddle and released for her album “Glorious” (Christ for the Nations) in 2004, the song has become a staple in worship events worldwide since.

It was first made popular by Christian artist Kari Jobe and then re-released by the contemporary Christian group Phillips, Craig and Dean in 2009 and spent 17 weeks atop Billboard’s Hot Christian Adult Contemporary chart. The song was certified gold by the Recording Industry Association of America.

“This song captures the moment of looking up into Heaven, peeling back the curtain of eternity so we can peek in,” Phillips, Craig and Dean member Randy Phillips once said.

In this video, worship leaders from around the globe came together at Gateway Church in Dallas/Fort Worth, Texas, to sing God’s praises through this anointed hymn in Hebrew, Japanese, Spanish, German, Dutch, Mandarin, Korean, French, Finnish and Portuguese. The performance came to a rousing completion in English.
