

Samaritan's Purse Rises to the COVID-19 Challenge, Bringing Hope and Healing

Samaritan's Purse employs medical volunteers all around the country to bring aid and care to those who need it most. Their latest efforts have taken them to Caldwell Memorial Hospital in Lenoir, North Carolina, with a 30-bed non-ICU ward in the parking lot.

As hospitals become overrun with new COVID cases each day, medical centers are struggling to keep up. The prayer behind the Samaritan's Purse noble and life-saving action is to bring relief not only to those who cannot receive proper care but to assist the hospital staff as well.

For more on how Samaritan's Purse is serving their community in powerful ways, watch this video.