

Do You Trust God?

She went from being a television talk-show host to being a patient in a psychiatric ward struggling with deep depression. But Sheila Walsh never gave up. She has gone from living with stifling fear to living in liberating trust. We all go through seasons when we either wholeheartedly depend on the Father or put our hope in sinking sand. But Walsh encourages us to be completely honest with God and not pretend that we're OK. Watch the video below.
