

What Are the Things Real Women Struggle With?

When you disrespect your husband or show that co-worker a not-so-pleasant side of your personality, do you beat up on yourself for failing to act in a godly manner—again? We all have imperfections in us, but God sends conviction to reveal our weaknesses and get us back on the right path. When struggles get the best of you, don't concede defeat and think you'll never get the victory in a given area of your life. The Holy Spirit comes to convict believers of sin, and then empower us to live free from it. Click below to watch video.
