

Spirit-Filled Pastor Leads Sermon Series About the Enneagram

Matt Brown, founding and lead pastor of Sandals Church in Riverside, California, just completed a nine-week sermon series based on the Enneagram. The Enneagram is a personality system that has recently grown in popularity in Christian circles. The system puts people into nine types based on their core motivations. During each sermon in the series, Brown delivers a targeted message for one of these nine types. He says, "Becoming a Christian isn't just about getting to know God. Becoming a Christian is about getting to know yourself."

In this video, Brown begins the series by talking about the first type, the Reformer. What do you think of this Enneagram sermon series? Let us know in the comments.
