

Spirit-Filled Pastor Shares Powerful Parable for Today's Church

Gateway Church pastor Robert Morris recently used a story from his early years of marriage to illustrate a powerful point about the Holy Spirit. Morris discusses how his wife would have comforters and towels that were only for show and not to be used.

Then Morris turns the story back on the audience: "How many Christians today have a Holy Spirit that's not for use, [where] He's just for looks?"

In the video, you can practically hear a pin drop in the convicted silence afterward.

Does Morris' message convict you?
