

Stephen Colbert Tries to Explain the Trinity in a New Interview. It Gets Complicated.

The Late Show host Stephen Colbert recently shared how he imagines God in all of His otherworldly, trinitarian splendor in a recent interview. While talking on Faith in Focus, Colbert said he first imagines Jesus Christ, but then tries to think beyond that and think of the full Trinity, of the God who goes beyond our imagination. To do so, Colbert refers to Star Trek aliens, gravity, doors and even a piece of broccoli in this thought-provoking interview. Watch it here.
