

The Fall of 'Newsweek'

✖ Numerous blogs and columns have been surfacing about Christianity's "decline." Most recently, during the week of Easter, Newsweek's cover story cavalierly announced Christianity's impending doom and eventual destruction. This week, I ran across a telling article at called The Decline and Fall of Newsweek. The author, Brent Bozell, questions how Newsweek, a magazine whose circulation has decreased by 52 percent since 1990, could say that Christianity is heading for doom because 10 percent fewer people identify as Christians than did in 1990. The article is a quick read and one I believe you will enjoy. After you've read it, come back and tell us your thoughts on the issue. Click here to read it.