

The Serious Danger of Microwave Christianity

We live in a time when, if food takes longer than five minutes to cook in the microwave, we get antsy.

And while modern technology has done wonders for our society, we can't apply this impatient attitude to our Christian faith without some serious consequences, says Pastor Shane Idleman.

Watch this sermon to learn the true dangers of what Idleman calls "Microwave Christianity."