

Tony Evans: We Cannot Force God to Bring Revival—But We Can Do This

Tony Evans says it's time for revival and unity in the church, but that it can't happen if we're allowing moral compromise. He says it's time to seek God first in the church before Christians can overflow into their cities. After all, he says, "How can we expect the life of God to flow in our communities if they can't flow down the aisles of our churches?" Watch the video to hear his teaching.
