

Tribute to Carman: For King and Country, Rebecca St. James Say 'Rest in Peace'

Reflecting on the life of a musician that impacted their lives in “profound” ways, Joel and Luke Smallbone of for King & Country offer their prayers for the Licciardello family as they mourn Carman’s death.

The brothers credit Carman with a major impact on their formative years in the music industry and remember how their sister, award-winning singer Rebecca St. James, opened for the Christian music legend when she was just a teenager.

She shared her heartfelt thanks for his influence on her life in a Facebook post: “I look forward to properly thanking you in Heaven for the impact you had on my life, but today I honor your life and say thank you my friend.”

Carman hope you can read this from heaven and know that you were a hero to me. Thank you for always...
