

WATCH: We The Kingdom Offers Hope in Wonder-Working God With ‘Miracle Power’

Worship along with We The Kingdom’s brand-new single, “Miracle Power,” released this weekend. With the song, the two-time Grammy-nominated group offers an inspiring message to anyone who is struggling: Help is never too far away.

The song’s opening lyrics point out such issues as loneliness, fear and addiction, adding that “Whatever trouble I am facing/ I will lift my hands and sing.”

“I believe in miracle power/ In a wonder-working God/ I am filled with the Holy Spirit/ He’s working wonders in my heart.”

Made up of brothers Ed and Scott Cash; Ed’s children, Frannie Ray Cash Cain and Martin Cash; and close family friend, Andrew Bergthold, We The Kingdom was named Contemporary Christian Artist of the Year at the 2021 Dove Awards. The multigenerational group has been opening for Casting Crowns on tour and is set to join Crowder’s My People Tour in June.

No matter what situation you may be facing today, join We The Kingdom in calling on God and His miracle power! {eoa}
