

What Christians Must Model in Growing 'Progressive Christianity' Culture

A dangerous mindset regarding Christianity and God's Word is spreading among our pews.

It's ravaging the hearts and minds of believers, pulling them away from the inerrant, infallible nature of the Bible and toward a view of God as a grand puppet master in the sky.

In a culture that applauds and exalts free will and personal happiness over obedience to God, Christians have a greater responsibility than ever to stand up for truth.

This interview from our content partners at CBN News highlights how it is vital for Christians to "get out of this insult culture" and walk in love and truth simultaneously.

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.