

What Happened When This Transgender Person Began Secretly Listening to Jentezen Franklin

He called himself Scarlet. He was a recovering crystal meth addict who prostituted his body to other men.

But Jeffrey McCall had a secret. When he wasn't partying or hooking up, he had Free Chapel pastor Jentezen Franklin pulled up on YouTube.

"I would listen to him and the Holy Spirit was using him to convict me of sin," McCall shares on The 700 Club.

Late one night during his last semester of grad school, McCall had an encounter he'll never forget.

Take a look.
