

What If Pastors Held Football-Style Press Conferences After Every Sermon?

Sports radio is full of Monday-morning quarterbacks, but pastors receive just as much criticism as players the next day. Comedian John Crist faces those criticisms head-on in his latest satire video, where he plays a pastor holding a football-style press conference. Don't miss this hilarious video.