

Why Hurry Is the Greatest Danger Facing Your Spiritual Walk

Pastor John Mark Comer says that the greatest spiritual enemy facing Christians today is hurry. It's easy to get sucked into the always-going pace of today's world, but even Jesus resisted being rushed along. Instead, Jesus' pace was always relaxed and deliberate. Americans have made productivity and busyness an idol, but if we are to become truly like Jesus, we too must slow down. Comer offers practical advice for embodying Christlike rest amid the rushing current of today.
