

Why One of Pro Wrestling's Greatest Villains Left It All Behind to Follow God

Ted DiBiase's pro wrestling character, the Million Dollar Man, believed everything had its price. DiBiase's fame certainly did. When his success led him down a destructive path—all the way to cheating on his wife—DiBiase needed Christ to step in and change him. Now the former wrestling villain is a God-fearing evangelist. On Nov. 7, his story is being told nationwide in theaters. Check out the trailer for The Price of Fame here.