

Why 'Progressive Theology' Is Killing the Church

As a pastor in Portland, Oregon, John Mark Comer has seen liberal and progressive theology firsthand. And he believes, with all due respect, that progressive theology is killing the church. In an interview with Premier, Comer explains why the true way of Jesus can't conform to either the left or right's agendas—and advocates for a third path.