

Why You Absolutely Cannot Push Salvation to the Backburner

It's usually said that a person should never talk about death, religion or politics. Nothing could be further from the truth, especially when it comes to the topic of life after death.

We know that none of us are going to get out of this thing alive. So many people avoid discussing where they will go after they die, but the most important decision each of us will make is where we will spend eternity.

When we're young, we think life will go on forever. When we get older, we understand how fast life goes by. Life really is but a vapor. Life is short. Don't wait to plan for the afterlife.

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.