

Deliverance Minister: A Call to Pray Against This Strongman Spirit

Frustration is still cycling in the spiritual realm. As believers, we need to come together and urgently pray against natural frustration and spiritual frustration.

Frustration is a human emotion we can experience. However, when it spins out of control, it can become a demonic spirit that infiltrates our soul and a principality that attacks our spiritual atmosphere and the world in which we live.

Recently, I released a prophetic word on how the spirit of frustration is attacking believers. I stated in the article that frustration could be a familiar spirit that cycles through seasons and patterns. I was amazed as this prophetic word went to publication that another one of my previous articles on frustration had surfaced again on . The timeline difference was about nine months. Familiar spirits usually activate for about six months and then change to another deploy of the enemy.

When I saw this as activating for nine months, a strongman spirit came to mind, and then the coronavirus came to mind. I am calling an urgency to pray against this strongman spirit of frustration that is attacking not only believers but the world. When we look at what is happening with the coronavirus, people are not only sick, but it is affecting everyone with frustration of having to cancel travel, not being able to find standard supplies such as disinfecting wipes in stores, and the financial strain and impact it is putting on the economy. Frustration is all around.

When the Lord gave me the prophetic word recently, I could see its operation in many believer's lives. I see a much bigger picture here: not only frustration, but a spirit of frustration that is culminating to something more significant and is expanding to the north, south, east and west.

Conquering the spiritual realm means not only praying against what is attacking, such as the coronavirus, but it means taking out the demonic spirits driving the coronavirus, such as frustration, infirmity, sickness, death, financial insufficiency and other principalities and powers that are in operation. We need to attack at the core, at the root of the issue. Let's rise up in intercession and annihilate and defeat the spirit of frustration with the authority Jesus Christ has given us.
