

How to Have Christ's Peace During These Troubled Times

Feeling fearful, anxious, depressed or angry? The enemy hopes so! As the world begins to open up in the midst of the pandemic, more than ever before, we need to be able to find peace so we can move forward, make wise decisions and reengage in society.

None of this is a surprise to God. As a matter of fact, in the book of John, Jesus told us that, "In this world you will have tribulation" (John 16:33b, NIV) and "Let not your heart be troubled" (John 14:1a, MEV) and again, "My peace I give to you" (John 14:27b).

What exactly did He mean? How do we find this peace? What difference will it make?

Listen to this week's Move Forward With Dr. Kim Maas podcast to hear a new series titled Peace for Troubled Times to get the answers to these questions. Over the next four weeks, Dr. Kim will describe the gift of peace that can be yours, the importance of having this peace and how to find peace in the midst of these troubled times. It's time to receive peace and move forward as the nations open up to life after all the change and challenge of the last few months. Receive peace not only for this time, but for all the times of trouble, conflict and challenge you will face throughout your lifetime.

Listen to the Move Forward With Dr. Kim Maas podcast to find your peace here. Be sure to subscribe so you will not miss an episode of this important series, titled Peace for Troubled Times.