

Woman Receives Death Threats for Preaching Healing Power of Christ Over Homosexuality

The ministry behind a powerful video of a woman explaining how God helped her move past her same-sex attraction has sparked no shortage of attention and controversy, including some disturbing death threats.

At the same time that Emily Thomes—the woman in the clip—is expecting a baby, Greg Sukert, one of the guys behind Anchored North, the ministry that posted the video, is now speaking out about the intensity of angst over Thomes' testimony.

As Faithwire previously reported, Thomes explained in the now-viral video how she started dating a girl for the first time at age 15, how she was once engaged to a woman and how she previously lived the party life. {eoa}

Click here to read the rest of this story from our content partners at Faithwire.