

Kent Christmas 2025 Prophecy: Revival, Repentance and Reward

What is God telling the prophets about 2025?

In a recent message to the Regeneration Nashville congregation, Pastor Kent Christmas shared what the Lord placed on his heart for us to know about 2025.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

“A couple of days ago I was praying and the Lord really dropped this in my spirit. He said, ‘2024 was a year of battle. 2025 is going to be a year of spoil,’” Christmas prophesied.

Christmas says he believes the Lord is getting ready to release His treasures for His children who have stayed faithful to Him in the middle of struggles.

“I want that to get in your spirit because I believe that God is getting ready to release the rewards for all of us who have stayed faithful in the battle,” says Christmas.

This prophetic message of encouragement comes right at a time when the entire world has been celebrating the birth of Jesus, something Christmas points out as miraculous in itself.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

“As divided as our nation has have agnostics, we have atheists, we have Christians, we have non-believers, but statistics say that 96% of America celebrates Christmas.

That's an amazing statistic for a Christian nation that really has departed from a lot of the [faith]," he says.

With America seeking revival and repentance, perhaps this coming year of rewards is a reflection of the ultimate gift God has ever given us: His one and only Son.

Watch Kent Christmas' full message here.

THANK YOU FOR VISITING . TO ENJOY THE REST OF THIS MYCHARISMA POST, PLEASE VISIT THIS LINK.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

Abby Trivett is content development editor for Charisma Media.

Revival, Repentance and Reward: Kent Christmas 2025 Prophetic Message

What is God telling the prophets about 2025?

In a recent message to the Regeneration Nashville congregation, Pastor Kent Christmas shared what the Lord placed on his heart for us to know about 2025.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

"A couple of days ago I was praying and the Lord really dropped this in my spirit. He said, '2024 was a year of battle. 2025 is going to be a year of spoil,'" Christmas prophesied.

Christmas says he believes the Lord is getting ready to release His treasures for His children who have stayed faithful to Him in the middle of struggles.

“I want that to get in your spirit because I believe that God is getting ready to release the rewards for all of us who have stayed faithful in the battle,” says Christmas.

This prophetic message of encouragement comes right at a time when the entire world has been celebrating the birth of Jesus, something Christmas points out as miraculous in itself.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

“As divided as our nation has have agnostics, we have atheists, we have Christians, we have non-believers, but statistics say that 96% of America celebrates Christmas. That’s an amazing statistic for a Christian nation that really has departed from a lot of the [faith],” he says.

With America seeking revival and repentance, perhaps this coming year of rewards is a reflection of the ultimate gift God has ever given us: His one and only Son.

“When Mary was wrapping Jesus, she thought she was wrapping a baby, but what she was really wrapping was the gift from heaven that one day would die for you and I,” Christmas says.

As we reflect on the miracles God has done, let’s continue to thank Him for what He has done, is currently doing, and all of the exceedingly, abundantly wonderful things He has planned for the future.

Watch Kent Christmas’ full message here.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

Abby Trivett is content development editor for Charisma Media.

Troy Black's 2025 Word: The Year of Rebuilding

We as the church have to be the watchmen and women right have to walk in obedience to the Lord. We have to be in the Word. We have to stay in that place of submission, walking through this because the enemy right now wants to destroy the unity and he wants to steal the abundant life that God wants to give you this year because it's flagged by grace. He is giving us a double window of grace in this year in order to get right with Him, to do what He's calling to do the assignments we've been called and to walk them out. He's giving that to us, and either the sword or life is going to prevail.

Grace also believes this year will be a critical Road to Damascus year for some who have been appointed in Trump's cabinet.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

"There are some people in that cabinet that are called of God that don't even know they're called yet," Grace says. "There are others that are intellectuals, right? Intellectualism, at times can be an enemy of God. It can be a friend or it can be an enemy."

To pre-order Amanda Grace's new book, "The Revelational War," visit .

This, as Grace points out, comes from the intellectual drive to try to walk everything out on their own, without a spiritual surrender to the Lord. As both kinds of individuals face new challenges, she points out that: "There are those in the Trump cabinet that are going to meet their road to Damascus this year. And for good reason because they're Sauls that need to become Pauls."

She further believes this is going to be a very big, fruitful year for many within the church as they walk out their destiny with Christ.

"This year, I believe, is going to be an earmark year for those in the body of Christ, meaning what the Lord has called them to do, what they have been walking out with their training with the Lord, what they have been doing with the Lord, that they are about to come into the fullness of why they were raised up," Grace says.

THANK YOU FOR VISITING . TO ENJOY THE REST OF THIS MYCHARISMA POST, PLEASE VISIT THIS LINK.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

Abby Trivett is content development editor for Charisma Media.

Amanda Grace Unveils Her

Prophetic Word for 2025

What is the Lord saying to His people about the year 2025?

In an exclusive interview with Charisma Media, prophetic voice Amanda Grace spoke about what the Lord has planted on her heart for what we can expect to see in the coming year.

One of the things that Grace points to that the church must do right now during the time before President-elect Donald Trump ascends to office is pray for unity within the government, his cabinet and for the body of Christ. Seeking to divide our nation in the coming days is exactly what the wicked enemy would love, but the prayers of the righteous can and will prevail much. As the enemy comes to steal, kill and destroy, she notes that 2025 will be year where God comes to bring life and life more abundantly to his people.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

“That’s one of the things coming into 2025; the Lord wants to give to those who will serve Him and obey and be obedient,” says Grace. “He wants to give that too in this year because it’s a year of ‘double great.’”

Right now, Grace says we have two options: either to choose life or to choose the sword. We have the option to either continue to be humble and obedient, following and trusting the Lord or going back to our worldly ways. The choice is ours.

We as the church have to be the watchmen and women right have to walk in obedience to the Lord. We have to be in the Word. We have to stay in that place of submission, walking through this because the enemy right now wants to destroy the unity and he wants to steal the abundant life that God wants to give you this year because it’s flagged by grace. He is giving us a double window of grace in this year in order to get right with Him, to do what He's calling to do the assignments we've been called and to walk them out. He's giving that to us, and either the sword or life is going to prevail.

Grace also believes this year will be a critical Road to Damascus year for some who have been appointed in Trump's cabinet.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

"There are some people in that cabinet that are called of God that don't even know they're called yet," Grace says. "There are others that are intellectuals, right? Intellectualism, at times can be an enemy of God. It can be a friend or it can be an enemy."

To pre-order Amanda Grace's new book, "The Revelatory War," visit .

This, as Grace points out, comes from the intellectual drive to try to walk everything out on their own, without a spiritual surrender to the Lord. As both kinds of individuals face new challenges, she points out that: "There are those in the Trump cabinet that are going to meet their road to Damascus this year. And for good reason because they're Sauls that need to become Pauls."

She further believes this is going to be a very big, fruitful year for many within the church as they walk out their destiny with Christ.

"This year, I believe, is going to be an earmark year for those in the body of Christ, meaning what the Lord has called them to do, what they have been walking out with their training with the Lord, what they have been doing with the Lord, that they are about to come into the fullness of why they were raised up," Grace says.

"There is a changing of the guard that is happening in the church. Some of it is by God's doing. Some of it by man's doing, and God is going to separate that very clearly for believe this is going to be a very sobering year of the the church can do what it is called to do this year."

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

Abby Trivett is content development editor for Charisma Media.

The Astounding, Unimaginable and Extraordinary Birth of Jesus

When we celebrate the birth of Jesus, we are celebrating one of the most improbable miracles in all of human history.

You see, the truth is that not just anyone could have showed up and claimed to be the Messiah. According to the Scriptures, the Messiah had to come from a very specific bloodline, the Messiah had to be born at a very specific place, and the Messiah had to be born at a very specific time. It was exceedingly unlikely that anyone would ever be able to fulfill all of those prophecies, but Jesus did. The prophecies about the first coming of Christ that we find in the Bible are powerful evidence for the reality of the Christian faith, and yet these prophecies are rarely taught in our churches today.

Even though the birth of Christ is most commonly celebrated on Dec. 25, in the western world, scholars openly acknowledge that Jesus was not actually born on Dec. 25. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, people did not start celebrating the birth of Christ on Dec. 25, until hundreds of years after the time of Jesus.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

In the 3rd century, the Roman Empire, which at the time had not adopted Christianity, celebrated the rebirth of the Unconquered Sun (Sol Invictus) on Dec. 25. This holiday not only marked the return of longer days after the winter solstice but also followed the popular Roman festival called the Saturnalia (during which people feasted and exchanged gifts). It was also the birthday of the Indo-European deity Mithra, a god of light and loyalty whose cult was at the time growing popular among Roman soldiers.

The church in Rome began formally celebrating Christmas on Dec. 25, in A.D. 336, during the reign of the emperor Constantine. As Constantine had made Christianity the effective religion of the empire, some have speculated that choosing this date had the political motive of weakening the established pagan celebrations. The date was not widely accepted in the Eastern Empire, where Jan. 6, had been favored, for another half-century, and Christmas did not become a major Christian festival until the 9th century.

The Bible does not give us a specific date for the birth of Christ, but based on the chronology that we are given in the gospel of Luke it probably happened during the fall months.

And as I noted earlier, the Messiah could not have been just any random person.

In my new book entitled "Why", I explain that the Scriptures mandate that the Messiah must come from an extremely unique bloodline.

-He had to be a descendant of Abraham. (Genesis 12:3)

-He had to be a descendant of Isaac. (Genesis 21:12)

-He had to be a descendant of Jacob. (Numbers 24:17)

-He had to be a descendant of Judah. (Genesis 49:10)

-He had to be a descendant of Jesse. (Isaiah 11:1)

-He had to be a descendant of David. (Isaiah 9:6 and Jeremiah 23:5)

-He had to be a descendant of Solomon. (2 Samuel 7:13)

In addition to coming from a very specific bloodline, the Scriptures also require that the Messiah must be born in the town of Bethlehem.

This is what Micah 5:2 tells us.

But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.

The Scriptures also require that the Messiah must be born of a virgin.

What are the odds of that happening?

I think that Henry Morris was being quite generous when he assigned a probability of one in 40 billion.

Consider also the matter of the virgin birth, which was prophesied over 500 years before its fulfillment. "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call His name Immanuel” (Isa. 7:14). The imminent fulfillment of this amazing prophecy was finally announced to Mary’s espoused husband, Joseph, also by Gabriel: “Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost” (Matt. 1:20).

There has been no other virgin birth recorded in all human history, in comparison to perhaps 40 billion normal births since Adam. However, an evolutionary skeptic might argue that such a thing is theoretically at least possible, especially in view of such modern genetic developments as artificial insemination, cloning, etc., as well as examples of parthenogenesis among animals. So perhaps we could assign a probability of one in 40 billion to a human virgin birth (or better, virgin conception—the actual birth being fully normal in Jesus’ case).

On top of everything else, the Scriptures require that the Messiah must be born at a very specific time in human history.

Daniel chapter 9 contains some of the most complex prophecies in the entire Bible. As I explain in my book, that chapter gives us a very specific timeline, and it also gives us a way to check to see if we have interpreted that timeline correctly. Daniel 9:26 says that the Messiah must die before the city of Jerusalem and the Temple are destroyed, and of course the city of Jerusalem and the Temple were destroyed in A.D. 70.

What this means is that the Messiah had to show up before A.D. 70, and that is precisely what happened.

At just the right time, and in just the right place, the Messiah came into the world. I recently came across an editorial that discussed just how unlikely this really was.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Some people love math. I barely tolerated it; just enough to get by. Then there are people that have a passion for statistics, and others love to postulate on statistical probabilities, adinfinitum.

OK, let's try this scenario on for size. What are the chances that a virgin teenage girl, say 13 or 14, named Mary, who lived in the village of Nazareth along with her fiancé Joseph, would immaculately conceive by the Holy Spirit and later give birth to a little boy, after traveling fully pregnant, on a donkey about 90 miles—a four to five day journey on foot—to the birthplace of Joseph's ancestor, King David? This little baby would grow up to eventually save humanity from their sins. Come on, stat-people and mathematicians, I'll wait for your answer.

Overall, there are over 300 prophecies in the Bible regarding the coming of the Messiah that were fulfilled by Jesus Christ.

After He rose from the dead, Jesus explained the importance of fulfilling all of those prophecies to His disciples. The following is what Luke 24:44 tells us.

And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.

Yes, anyone could theoretically show up and claim to be the Messiah.

But there is only one man that fulfilled all of the criteria set forth in the Scriptures.

Jesus is the Messiah, and that is definitely something worth celebrating.

Michael Snyder's new book entitled "Why" is available in paperback and for the Kindle on Amazon, and you can subscribe to his Substack newsletter at this link.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

The Extremely Improbable, Exceedingly Unlikely, Exceptionally Amazing Birth of Jesus

When we celebrate the birth of Jesus, we are celebrating one of the most improbable miracles in all of human history.

You see, the truth is that not just anyone could have showed up and claimed to be the Messiah. According to the Scriptures, the Messiah had to come from a very specific bloodline, the Messiah had to be born at a very specific place, and the Messiah had to be born at a very specific time. It was exceedingly unlikely that anyone would ever be able to fulfill all of those prophecies, but Jesus did. The prophecies about the first coming of Christ that we find in the Bible are powerful evidence for the reality of the Christian faith, and yet these prophecies are rarely taught in our churches today.

Even though the birth of Christ is most commonly celebrated on Dec. 25, in the western world, scholars openly acknowledge that Jesus was not actually born on Dec. 25. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, people did not start celebrating the birth of Christ on Dec. 25, until hundreds of years after the time of Jesus.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

In the 3rd century, the Roman Empire, which at the time had not adopted Christianity, celebrated the rebirth of the Unconquered Sun (Sol Invictus) on Dec. 25. This holiday not only marked the return of longer days after the winter solstice but also followed the popular Roman festival called the Saturnalia (during which people feasted and exchanged gifts). It was also the birthday of the Indo-European deity Mithra, a god of light and loyalty whose cult was at the time growing popular among Roman soldiers.

The church in Rome began formally celebrating Christmas on Dec. 25, in A.D. 336, during the reign of the emperor Constantine. As Constantine had made Christianity the effective religion of the empire, some have speculated that choosing this date had the political motive of weakening the established pagan celebrations. The date was not widely accepted in the Eastern Empire, where Jan. 6, had been favored, for another half-century, and Christmas did not become a major Christian festival until the 9th century.

The Bible does not give us a specific date for the birth of Christ, but based on the chronology that we are given in the gospel of Luke it probably happened during the fall months.

And as I noted earlier, the Messiah could not have been just any random person.

In my new book entitled "Why", I explain that the Scriptures mandate that the Messiah must come from an extremely unique bloodline.

-He had to be a descendant of Abraham. (Genesis 12:3)

-He had to be a descendant of Isaac. (Genesis 21:12)

-He had to be a descendant of Jacob. (Numbers 24:17)

-He had to be a descendant of Judah. (Genesis 49:10)

-He had to be a descendant of Jesse. (Isaiah 11:1)

-He had to be a descendant of David. (Isaiah 9:6 and Jeremiah 23:5)

-He had to be a descendant of Solomon. (2 Samuel 7:13)

In addition to coming from a very specific bloodline, the Scriptures also require that the Messiah must be born in the town of Bethlehem.

This is what Micah 5:2 tells us.

But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting.

The Scriptures also require that the Messiah must be born of a virgin.

What are the odds of that happening?

I think that Henry Morris was being quite generous when he assigned a probability of one in 40 billion.

Consider also the matter of the virgin birth, which was prophesied over 500 years before its fulfillment. "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call His name Immanuel" (Isa. 7:14). The imminent fulfillment of this amazing prophecy was finally announced to Mary's espoused husband, Joseph, also by Gabriel: "Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost" (Matt. 1:20).

There has been no other virgin birth recorded in all human history, in comparison to perhaps 40 billion normal births since Adam. However, an evolutionary skeptic might argue that such a thing is theoretically at least possible, especially in view of such modern genetic developments as artificial insemination, cloning, etc., as well as examples of parthenogenesis among animals. So perhaps we could assign a probability of one in 40 billion to a human virgin birth (or better, virgin conception—the actual birth being fully normal in Jesus' case).

On top of everything else, the Scriptures require that the Messiah must be born at a very specific time in human history.

Daniel chapter 9 contains some of the most complex prophecies in the entire Bible. As I explain in my book, that chapter gives us a very specific timeline, and it also gives us a way to check to see if we have interpreted that timeline correctly. Daniel 9:26 says that the Messiah must die before the city of Jerusalem and the Temple are destroyed, and of course the city of Jerusalem and the Temple were destroyed in A.D. 70.

What this means is that the Messiah had to show up before A.D. 70, and that is precisely what happened.

At just the right time, and in just the right place, the Messiah came into the world. I recently came across an editorial that discussed just how unlikely this really was.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Some people love math. I barely tolerated it; just enough to get by. Then there are people that have a passion for statistics, and others love to postulate on statistical probabilities, adinfinitum.

OK, let's try this scenario on for size. What are the chances that a virgin teenage girl, say 13 or 14, named Mary, who lived in the village of Nazareth along with her fiancé Joseph, would immaculately conceive by the Holy Spirit and later give birth to a little boy, after traveling fully pregnant, on a donkey about 90 miles—a four to five day journey on foot—to the birthplace of Joseph's ancestor, King David? This little baby would grow up to eventually save humanity from their sins. Come on, stat-people and mathematicians, I'll wait for your answer.

Overall, there are over 300 prophecies in the Bible regarding the coming of the Messiah that were fulfilled by Jesus Christ.

After He rose from the dead, Jesus explained the importance of fulfilling all of those prophecies to His disciples. The following is what Luke 24:44 tells us.

And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.

Yes, anyone could theoretically show up and claim to be the Messiah.

But there is only one man that fulfilled all of the criteria set forth in the Scriptures.

Jesus is the Messiah, and that is definitely something worth celebrating.

Michael Snyder's new book entitled "Why" is available in paperback and for the Kindle on Amazon, and you can subscribe to his Substack newsletter at .

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!