

Amanda Grace's Prophetic Warning on Drones, Murder and Nephilim

Right now, our reality seems to be stranger than fiction.

With the increasing number of mystery drones taking place at the same time as the horrific murder of the United Healthcare CEO, Brian Thompson, the truth of what is happening in our world is quite sad. What if these events, however, have a very real spiritual component to them?

In a new livestream, prophetic voice Amanda Grace gave a warning of how these events spiritually connect to one another.

To pre-order Amanda Grace's new book, "The Revelational War," visit .

On Oct. 26, 2022 Grace had the following prophecy:

"Watch around the time of what you call Christmas in your nation, for an insatiable power move," Grace prophesies. "And just as they think it is succeeded, it shall fall flat and hard, says the Lord."

Using the examples of the recent school shooting at Abundant Life Christian School in Madison, Wisconsin, the murder of the United Healthcare CEO along with the drone activity, Grace says something dark stirring during the Christmas season.

She also shared her prophetic word from Aug. 29, 2024 about what we could see take place near the High Holy Days.

“Around the time of the High Holy Days, phenomenon in the sky and a sifting, for they must sift through now, says the Lord, for what the wicked have planned with those submitted to do terror, they have planned for around a month from the election,” says Grace. “Not a month before the election, a month from out from the election.”

Grace’s prophetic word then urges for a call to prayer because what is going on is “meant to stop the process and declare emergencies.”

She also mentions how Israel’s capture of the highest point on Mount Hermon in Syria has a greater prophetic significance to it than most people realize.

“Mount Hermon, is where the 200 angels, the watchers in the book of Enoch, come down, make a pact [on] top Mount Hermon to defy God, rebel against God, rebel against His order, do things with earthly women they shouldn’t do, and the Nephilim came forth from that,” Grace says.

She says that in the middle of everything we see happening in the United States, Israel and across the world, we need to keep watch for what could happen in this area given its historical importance in regard to wickedness.

As Christians, we must keep our eyes focused on Jesus no matter what comes our way, remembering to stand for His truth and faithfulness.

Was this Prophecy for New Jersey About the Mystery Drones?

Has a prophetic word about New Jersey been fulfilled since the emergence of the suspicious drone activity?

Drone sightings have started to occur all across the nation, including in states like Arizona, Ohio, California and overwhelming in the Northeast in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, where they first began.

As we continue to seek answers about what these drones just might be and where they are coming from, is it possible that they somehow connect to a prophetic word given for the state of New Jersey?

In 2008, Chuck Pierce was taken into a vision where the Lord showed him specifics to understand about each and every state. While some states such as Florida, South Carolina and Texas were considered crucial for a prosperous future for the United States, he believed this year was vital for Christians to pray for the state of New Jersey.

“They have a tremendous apostolic covering for the sphere we represent,” Pierce said.

From New Jersey I believe a nation has been greatly affected. Now, New Jersey is called the crossroads of the revolution. I really believe that is still the call on New Jersey.

Morning Rundown: Are We Living in the Days of Noah? A Prophetic Look at Our World

Today

In a mind-blowing interview on Prophecy Watchers, Steve Quayle and Gary Stearman delved into topics often dismissed but increasingly difficult to ignore: ancient giants, supernatural portals and the implications of artificial intelligence.

Their discussion points to a biblical warning meant for our time: the days of Noah are returning, and Christians must remain vigilant.

“The entire concept of false narratives within the Christian church, especially regarding Genesis 6, has distorted our understanding of biblical truths,” Quayle said. He pointed to the grandeur of ancient Egyptian monuments, arguing that their scale was likely designed for giants, not “just a pharaoh claiming to be bigger than life.” Quayle asserted, “Under the Giza Plateau, there is the city of giants ... 100 square miles of massive architecture built to giant dimensions.”

Such claims might sound far-fetched to some, but they resonate with Scriptural accounts of the Nephilim, described in Genesis 6:4: “The sons of God came in to the daughters of men, and they bore children to them.” Stearman added, “As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of Man” (Luke 17:26), pointing to Jesus’ warning about the conditions of the last days.

Their conversation expanded to modern phenomena, including UFO sightings, unexplained orbs and spirals in the sky. Stearman noted, “The standard denial no longer exists ... we can no longer ignore it or deny it.” These occurrences, they argued, could be linked to ancient practices of tribes performing rituals to open portals for “gods” to enter our realm. “We’ve heard about chants that open various portals, and they court the gods who then have conversations with human beings," Quayle said.

The interview also tackled the advent of artificial intelligence and its role in what Henry Kissinger allegedly called a new era of "superhuman people" controlling Earth. "We've now reached the era when we are able to open time-space gates to some other dimension," Quayle claimed, linking AI's promises of god-like knowledge to the serpent's deception in Eden: "You will be like God" (Gen. 3:5).

Quayle reflected on humanity's drive for immortality, citing transhumanist Zoltan Istvan: "At the heart of every transhumanist is [a desire] not to die and to live forever." He cautioned Christians to recognize the danger of seeking eternal life apart from God. "Man's lust for eternal life in a context that is not biblical reveals their rebellion against God's plan," he said.

Quayle and Stearman's discussion serves as a wake-up call for Christians. In a world increasingly saturated with technological advancements, supernatural phenomena and deceptive narratives, believers must ground themselves in Scripture. ## Is Bible Prophecy Coming to Pass in Damascus?

The ongoing turmoil in Syria has once again turned global attention toward the ancient city of Damascus, raising a sobering question for Christians: Are we witnessing the fulfillment of biblical prophecy?

As the Syrian Civil War intensifies, reports indicate that Turkish-backed rebel forces, having already captured Aleppo and Hama, are now poised to move toward Damascus—the stronghold of President Bashar al-Assad’s regime.

The Bible has long associated Damascus with prophetic warnings. Isaiah 17:1-3 declares: “See, Damascus will cease to be a city; it will become a ruinous heap.” This prophecy foretells the city’s destruction and desolation, a stark vision that resonates as rebel forces secure towns near Damascus, such as Izraa, and gain control of significant territory in the surrounding Daraa Governorate.

The End of Damascus: Exploring Its Role in Biblical Prophecy

The collapse of the Syrian government and the end of Bashar al-Assad’s regime is not only a geopolitical turning point but a moment of profound prophetic significance. For believers who examine global events through the lens of Scripture, the situation in Syria—and particularly in Damascus—demands our attention.

A Biblical Perspective on Damascus

Damascus, one of the oldest continuously inhabited cities in the world, occupies a central role in biblical prophecy. Isaiah 17:1 declares, “The burden against Damascus: ‘Behold, Damascus will cease from being a city, and it will be a ruinous heap.’” This prophecy remains unfulfilled for the time being, but the unraveling of Syria's stability suggests the fulfillment may be imminent.

Marcus Rogers: Interview With Joni Lamb on Daystar Allegations

In a newly released video, YouTuber and pastor Marcus Rogers sat down with Joni Lamb to share her side of the story, addressing recent allegations made against her and Daystar.

Rogers first brings up the allegations that an unnamed family member going by "Pete" abused Jonathan and Suzy Lamb's young daughter during a retreat. Joni Lamb says her granddaughter was inappropriately touched by a boy at school, but that the incident during the family vacation has been stretched into something different than reality.

"In 2020, there was an incident that took place at my granddaughter's school," Lamb says. "Suzy called me and she said, 'Will you go down to the school with me?' I said, 'absolutely,' so we went together to the school, we reported it to the school. My granddaughter had told her mother that a little boy had touched her and her friend inappropriately.

Netflix Movie Mocks Nativity, Jokes About Aborting Baby Jesus

Netflix's latest offering, "That Christmas," an animated Christmas movie geared toward families, makes a mockery of the nativity story in one scene garnering a lot of attention.

The movie centers on a ragtag group of kids, all led by a rebellious teenager named Bernadette. At one point in the film, the children come together to put on a school Christmas production written by a couple students who feel the biblical nativity story is too antiquated for modern culture.

When Bernadette introduces the program, she describes Jesus as “a cool dude” with a beard and long hair and “into woodwork,” calling him “a hipster basically.”

Vatican to Open 5 'Sacred Portals' This Christmas Eve

The Vatican's announcement of opening sacred portals for the first time in 25 years has raised eyebrows and sparked intrigue. Set to coincide with the 2025 Jubilee Year, the ceremony involves the opening of five "Holy Doors" at ancient basilicas, with one "hypothetical" door at Italy's Rebibbia prison. While the Catholic Church claims this tradition upholds a "doorway to salvation," one can't help but question: What exactly is the Catholic Church attempting to achieve with this elaborate ritual? And more importantly, where in the Bible is any of this remotely supported?

According to The Daily Mail, the Holy Doors are located at some of Rome's most venerated basilicas, such as St. Peter's and St. John Lateran, and are ceremonially bricked up and unsealed only during Jubilee Years. Pope Francis, who initiated the ritual on Dec. 2, describes it as a time to focus on hope and spiritual renewal amidst global crises like war, the lingering effects of COVID-19 and climate change. He has also extended this symbolic act to prisoners, aiming to deliver a message of hope. The Jubilee Year's theme, "Pilgrims of Hope," reflects these aspirations.

While the Pope's sentiment is admirable, the ritual itself is baffling. The "opening" of doors—requiring the removal of brick walls—is described as a "symbol of salvation," but this imagery finds no precedent in Christian Scripture. Nowhere in the Bible is there a mention of "Holy Doors" that must be ceremonially opened to signal divine grace. If anything, Jesus Christ Himself declared, "I am the door. If anyone enters through Me, he will be saved" (John 10:9). This verse proves that access to salvation is found in faith in Christ, not through elaborate rituals or symbolic structures.

1. Donald Trump wins the 2024 presidential election in a landslide. Donald Trump's win is the biggest political comeback in modern history. As the country has become less moral and lurched toward socialism in recent decades, millions of Americans (including most Bible-believing Christians) have finally had enough. We prayed that God would change the downward direction by giving us a leader with the ability to change the course. God answered with a decisive win for Trump, whose life God spared—twice—for such a time as this.

There is a spiritual aspect to this election that most in secular media ignore. They focus on issues they believe swung the election—the economy, the border crisis and foreign policies. But they ignore the fact that millions of us consider abortion murder; that we refuse to allow the ever-growing list of perversions to be crammed down our throats; and that we truly resent the ungodly trend toward more government that manifests itself in so many ways.

Those who oppose Trump also oppose what we believers consider as godly values. Trump famously once said, "They aren't against me; they are against you, I'm just in the way." They called Donald Trump a fascist and his supporters "deplorable," "Nazi" and this time, "garbage.
