

Prophetic Dream Warning Amid South Korea's Martial Law Chaos

The world has been on edge as South Korea's president, Yoon Suk Yeol, declared martial law to rid of "anti-state" forces, criticizing his opposing party for being partial to North Korea. Parliament later voted unanimously to lift the marital law. However, the panic this has caused gives great precedence to call the body of believers to prayer and to take seriously a prophetic dream warning from Chris Reed.

On Nov. 26, 2024, Chris Reed had a prophetic dream about North Korea and the United State's response to the highly restricted nation.

"I had a dream early this morning on 11-26-24 that the U.S. president ordered precision military strikes against North Korea in response to their actions, including involvement with Russia and China's actions involved with the Ukraine," Reed says.

If South Korea is truly worried about interference from North Korea, then perhaps we should heed this as a warning and a call to prayer.

"I believe we must pray against this to stop acceleration of a global war in the world," the prophecy concludes.

“I’m asking you to join with me and pray against that,” says Reed. “We’ve got to pray against this because we don’t want to see an acceleration of a global war in the world.”

Pray for South Korea, that the panic, fear, confusion and turmoil would be calmed. Pray also for North Korea as well, that the truth of the gospel would permeate and change the hearts and lives of the people there. We have been prophetically warned of global issues, and now is the time for us to join in prayer to see these evil agendas halted.

TD Jakes: ‘Let Him Go in Peace’

Bishop T.D. Jakes, one of the most prominent voices in modern Christianity, experienced a medical emergency during his sermon last Sunday. Reports suggest he suffered a seizure, leaving many within the faith community pondering the spiritual and physical implications of such an event. As his sermon transitioned from a heartfelt prayer to instructions for giving, Bishop Jakes’ vulnerability seemed to surface, culminating in the abrupt health crisis.

The moment was poignant, especially given his closing words: “I still love to preach. I ain’t tired of preaching. I miss you, I miss you.” This sentiment shines a light on the paradox that many in ministry face—the deep love for their calling weighed against the demands that come with it. For Jakes, who had recently returned from ministering in Zimbabwe for The Jubilee Conference earlier in November, the strain of global ministry likely compounded the exhaustion.

In the aftermath of the incident, Bishop Jakes’ daughter, Sarah Jakes Roberts, and her husband, Touré Roberts, provided an update on his condition through social media. They assured the faith community that Bishop Jakes is in stable condition and recovering well from the incident.

During today's service, Bishop T.D. Jakes experienced a slight health incident and received immediate medical attention following his powerful hour long message. Bishop Jakes is stable and under the care of medical professionals. The entire Potter's House family is grateful for the outpouring of love, prayers, and support from the community.

Morning Rundown: ‘Late Great Planet Earth’ Author Hal Lindsey Dies at 95

Here’s a quick rundown of the top stories on :

'Late Great Planet Earth' Author Hal Lindsey Dies at 95

Popular prophetic Bible teacher, theologian and groundbreaking author Harold Lee "Hal" Lindsey died Nov. 25, just two days after turning 95, per his website. No official cause of death was given for Lindsey, who penned "The Late Great Planet Earth" and other eschatological titles.

Lindsey earned a Master of Theology degree at Dallas Theological Seminary and a Doctorate of Theology in 1994 from the California Graduate School of Theology. A former missionary with Campus Crusade (now Cru), he regularly taught Sunday school and spoke at Melodyland Christian Center in Anaheim, California, later speaking in venues across the globe.

"The Late Great Planet Earth" was first offered in 1970 by Christian publisher Zondervan and, after it sold half a million copies, was picked up by Bantam as a "crossover" book, bridging the gap between religious and secular audiences. Lindsey's folksy style and embrace of popular eschatological topics from a pre-Tribulation, dispensationalist perspective appealed to the masses, and the book was translated into more than 50 languages and sold more than 35 million copies by 1999.
